We have worked with Nelspruit Iron & Steel in Nelspruit over the last two decades and consider them the most established structural steel contractors in the area, and an authority in their field.

They have demonstrated their expertise on some difficult and very exacting projects, and I consider them the go to people in Nelspruit for practical and current costing opinions when it comes to steel structures.

Finalizing accounts with them for work done on projects makes life easier for a QS due to their candid and clear method of pricing and cost control which we do not always find in the industry,

Yours truly,
